

PHONE: 5320 1260

Nuggets of nonsense

Eureka!

With ALANA DAVISON, ANDREW JEFFERSON AND MICHAEL RUFFLES

90s?

her on the amuseiven a and her

This 'telephone' has too many shortcomings to be seriously considered as a means of communication. The device is inherently of no value to us.
(Western Union internal memo, 1876)

We're so sorry Chad

SEEMS Eureka has offended the Wonderdog from out-Chad, we published a of his identity at trying what was
from a pair of jocks
a football d, took ng re-
yong, AFL legend Tom Hafe was seen jumping off a bus at Melbourne Airport last week
screaming 'Go Buninyong!'

Buninyong Football-Netball Club.
As far as mascots go, Chad the Wonderdog is doing a pretty good job — Buninyong goes into the Central League series with eight teams competing — the under-13, under-15, under-17, and senior netball teams, as well as the senior football teams.

And speaking of Buninyong, AFL legend Tom Hafe was seen jumping off a bus at Melbourne Airport last week screaming 'Go Buninyong!'

FLASHBACK: Our s a football match

question the legitimacy of
The ladder calls into question the legitimacy of

NOT SO HOT: Tim Fitzgerald, left, was among staff who were bewildered when alarm bells went off inside the Ballarat City Fire Brigade Station last week. It seems the office had suffered a blown circuit which left smoke drifting from the alarm monitoring panel and staff were quick to rectify the situation.

Yummy delis simply devine

CHICKEN mite rolls and yummy? vege- sound salami and ancho
How about anchovies and banana?
In exploring strange food combinations, Eureka discovered that the mother-in-law of a prominent AFL footballer recently asked for a couple of strange things at a banquet dinner.

Her first request was for "alcoholic water" and later — something with salt — something she later decided was not such a good idea. A cafe in Ballarat served banana, bacon and tomato sandwiches to a regular customer.

It had also been revealed banana was the extra ingredient in a
If you have served in a restaurant and would like to anonymously spread some gossip, or have had some pretty shoddy service you then feel free to send your contributions to Call us on 5320 1260 or e-mail our writers.

Jock thief's identity a bone of contention

NO IT'S not a streaker, it's a pooch making out with a pair of jocks.
Seen at the weekend's clash between Buninyong and Healesville at Buninyong Oval was a dog doing a number across the ground, catching a pair of jocks firmly in its mouth.
Buninyong supporters claimed that no-one could suspect that the dog was a decoy arranged by the Healesville team.
The incident calls into question the legitimacy of a football match.

W
CITY
Ballarat City of the who